About D'Arrigo

At D'Arrigo Bros. Co., of CA, they continually strive to be a premier grower, packer and shipper of quality fruits and vegetables, while encouraging excellence in leadership and management and creating an environment of opportunity, innovation, growth and constant improvement. Andy Boy has a rich history as an industry trend-setter, not a follower. From the day the company was founded by Stefano and Andrea D'Arrigo, two immigrants from Messina, Sicily, innovation has been its hallmark. Their customers can confidently look to them for excellence in everything from seed research and development, food safety and sustainability, to entirely new approaches to packaging, packing, and even shipping. Always look for the distinctive Andy Boy pink label to know you can reliably get the finest pick of the crop. With third generation D'Arrigo family members at the helm of their West Coast operations, you can be sure that the traditions of being the very best in the business emanate from the ownership through to the dedicated family of almost 2,000 employees. Their retail, food-service and wholesale customers are seeing the next generation in customer service as well.
